TRANSPORTATION

WALK

We're proud of our neighborhood's walkability, and the many artistic and historical points of interest you can check out along the way. Check out free walking maps at: golloyd.org/walk.

CARSHARE

Several Zipcar spaces are reserved throughout the neighborhood. Getaround and Car2Go vehicles are often available as well. For more information, visit: golloyd.org/drive

BIKE

Several designated bike routes, including a protected bike lane, serve Lloyd. Over 1,700 bike parking spaces provide a safe place to lock up your bike when you arrive at your destination. Join the Lloyd Cycle Station for secure deluxe bike parking, including a shower and locker room. Lloyd also has multiple BIKETOWN stations in the neighborhood and Go Lloyd offers a helmet loaner for your convenience. For more information, visit: golloyd.org/bike

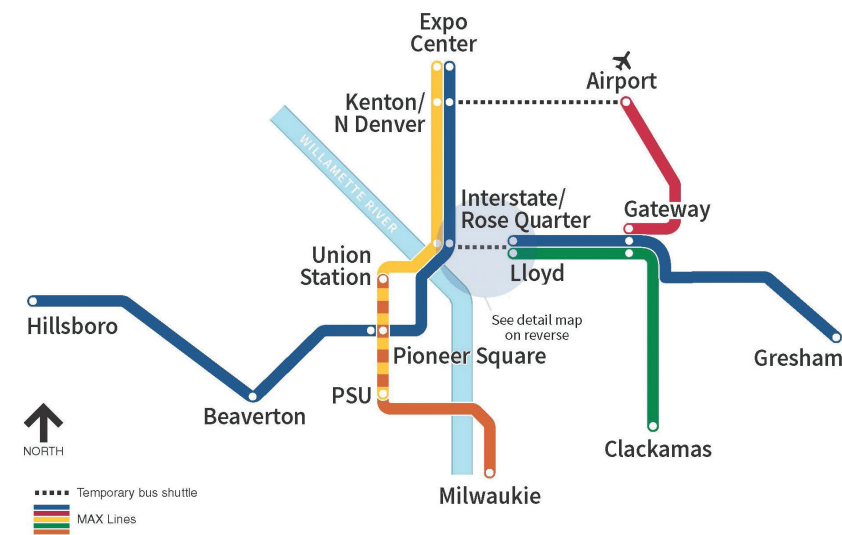

TRANSIT

Nine TriMet bus lines and four MAX lines serve the neighborhood. The Portland Streetcar A & B Loops connect Lloyd with Downtown, the Pearl, and the Central Eastside. The C-TRAN #157 express also provides direct access for Washington commuters. For more information, visit: golloyd.org/transit

With widely recognized landmarks such as the Lloyd Center, Rose Quarter and Oregon Convention Center, Lloyd contains 550 businesses employing more than 23,500 people and houses 2,500 residents. Lloyd's many diverse businesses, restaurants, entertainment venues and housing bringing together the best parts of what makes Portland unique. With numerous bike racks, easy access to mass transit, and sustainable redevelopment initiatives, Lloyd is committed to celebrating its environment and reducing its carbon footprint.

In 1905, Ralph Lloyd arrived in Portland with a vision and dream—to create a thriving neighborhood where businesses and residents seamlessly entwined. Today, that dream lives on as the city's commerce and culture work together to build one of the most desirable and innovatively sustainable urban neighborhoods in the nation.

Working together to build a neighborhood defined by the rich experiences and values of its inhabitants, the spirit and vision of Ralph Lloyd continues and a jewel in the heart of the city is created.

A legacy of innovation. A commitment to sustainability. A skyline that defines a city. A vibrant and welcoming community. This is Lloyd.
